Downpour In Texas

Weather Alerts Over Wide Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flash floods, the product of torrential rains, struck viciously in Texas and South Dakota Sunday. Hundreds were driven from their homes and damage was estimated in the millions of dollars.

The heavy squall of thunderstorms that triggered the Texas downpours moved into the East and South today. The Weather Bureau warned many areas to expect high winds, thunderstorms and hail.

Thunderstorms were reported early today from southern New England to Texas. New York State Police reported what they described as "a terrific windstorm" slashed thru the southwest corner of the state, downing trees and power lines. One trailer home was flipped 200 feet by the winds, police said.

River areas in southern Texas braced for more flooding today as rain continued to fall over most of the state.

Nine inches of rain fell in one burst at Killdeer and nearby Ft. Hood reported 7.96 inches. Swollen rivers and creeks in the area forced 125 families from their homes, derailed eight cars of a freight train and swept several automobiles off highways.

Austin, Tex., the largest city affected by the storm, reported two to three feet of water flooded many intersections. Homes and businesses in low-lying areas were swamped.

Two tornadoes were sighted on the ground, near San Antonio and Frisco, but no severe damage was reported.

The South Dakota floods were blamed on heavy rains that fell in the Black Hills Friday. Those rains, combined with the 34-inch snowfall the week before, resulted in heavy runoff.

National Guardsmen had urged homeowners in the area to evacuate, but most decided to brave the floods.

Les Schuchardt, 40, of Spearfish, had bolstered his home with 65 to 70 tons of concrete in a retaining wall against Spearfish Creek. The swift waters tore down the concrete and swept his home downriver.

Officials placed damage in South Dakota at $2 million.

Heavy thunderstorms struck Ohio before moving into Pennsylvania. Cleveland and Cincinnati reported many store windows were smashed and trees downed by wind, hail and rain. Power failed in Cincinnati for 30 minutes, apparently because of tree-damaged lines.

Question Polish Diplomat Who Fled to West

BERLIN (AP) — U.S. officials today questioned the high-ranking Polish diplomat who defected and asked political asylum in the United States. Polish officials took the man's wife and baby into Communist East Berlin.

A U.S. Air Force plane flew the defector, Wladislaw Tykocinski, about 44, from West Berlin into West Germany. U.S. officials said his request for asylum was being considered.

"The Americans got themselves a big fish," said a diplomat who had worked with Tykocinski in West Berlin.

Tykocinski had been chief of Poland's military mission in West Berlin for eight years.

Fills Chinks of Tax Cut

$4-Billion Plan Sent Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson formally submitted to Congress today his bid to cut excise taxes by nearly $4 billion, and gave assurances he sees no indication that spending for defense of the free world would upset the planned reduction.

The President filled in the chinks in a program he already had announced Saturday. And he said that the recommendations "will accomplish, prudently and responsibly, a major reform of the excise tax structure."

The Johnson plan would eliminate some of the existing excise taxes on July 1, with a total slash of $1.75 billion on that date and with a reduction of the same amount effective Jan. 1.

Beyond that, Johnson is proposing a $464-million slash spread over several years, up to 1970.

Apparently aware of some misgivings over whether the government should make such substantial tax cuts in view of possible increases in military spending in Viet Nam especially, Johnson told Congress:

"In proposing these reductions, I am fully aware of our present and prospective commitments for the defense of the free world. It is impossible to predict precisely what expenditures these may involve in the future. There is, however, no present indication that expenditures will increase to an extent that would make these excise tax reductions inadvisable."

"Indeed, our international responsibilities require that we redouble our efforts to assure the continued healthy growth of our economy. Barring some sudden change in the present world situation, I am sure that these excise tax reductions will be a sound and profitable investment in that growth."

And, to insure that the tax reduction make a maximum contribution to price stability and balanced prosperity, Johnson said:

"I call on American business to translate lower excise taxes promptly into lower retail prices for consumers."

Johnson spelled out in more detail his proposals made in a statement Saturday:

On retail taxes — those the buyers pay in the markets and stores — the complete repeal of levies on handbags, luggage, toilet articles, jewelry and furs on July 1.

On taxes manufacturers pay before the products reach the dealers — complete repeal on July 1 of those on business machines, sporting goods other than fishing gear, radios, television sets, phonographs and records, musical instruments, cameras, film and other photographic equipment, refrigerators, freezers, air conditioners, electric, gas and oil appliances, fountain and ballpoint pens.

Boy's Bike Collides With Car Trailer

Gary Naylor, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Naylor, 112 East Chestnut, was critically injured about 2:40 p.m. Sunday in a bicycle-trailer accident in the 600 block of North Engineer. The child was reported somewhat improved Monday.

He suffered a depressed skull fracture, laceration on the back of his head to the left side and bruises. Taken to Bothwell Hospital in a Ewing ambulance, he was attended by Dr. Donald Proctor and Dr. Robert Glass.

Surgery was performed late Sunday evening and it was reported he responded well following the operation. The hospital reported the youngster in fair condition Monday.

Bombs Aimed At Spans In Viet Bridges

WASHINGTON (AP) — On orders from the Pentagon, U.S. bombers have been knocking out single bridge spans — rather than entire bridges — wherever possible in Communist North Viet Nam.

Military officials said this almost surgical precision has accomplished the purpose of disabling the bridges and interrupting traffic across them. At the same time, it has demonstrated to the Communists that the United States can exercise restraint.

Bombing of North Viet Nam, which began Feb. 7, has been in suspension for several days. If and when it is resumed, it is expected that the single-span attack technique will be continued.

Some time ago, it was learned, directives from the Pentagon to U.S. forces operating against North Viet Nam stipulated, among other things, that the operational objective would be one span of a bridge. Informed sources suggested there was more than a purely military reason behind this instruction — that it fits in with the national policy of strictly controlled punishment designed to prod North Viet Nam into negotiating a settlement of the South Viet Nam war.

The pattern came to light last week when newsmen were questioning Lt. Col. Robinson Risher, an Air Force fighter-bomber squadron commander who has led 30 missions against North Viet Nam.

Battle Flares Anew

Junta Steps Up Drive On Rebels

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — With tanks spearheading the way, forces of the Dominican military-civilian junta today stepped up their offensive against outnumbered rebel fighters in northern Santo Domingo.

The three-day-old battle picked up new tempo after the junta rejected peacemaking efforts of a White House team sent here by President Johnson.

The junta forces are pushing the rebels eastward, where their backs will be against the Ozama and Isabella rivers.

The battle had raged through Saturday night, then diminished about noon Sunday, only to flare up again Sunday night.

Residents who fled the area north of the east-west supply corridor reported heavy military and civilian casualties.

The Weather

Partly cloudy and a little warmer tonight the lows from the upper 50s to the mid 60s. Tuesday partly cloudy and continued mild, the highs in the 80s. Southerly winds 10 to 18 tonight.

The temperature Monday was 60 at 7 a.m., and 79 at noon. Low Sunday night was 55.

The temperature one year ago today was, high 88, low 63; two years ago, high 74, low 58; three years ago, high 89, low 71.

Lake of Ozark stage: 55.9 feet; 4.1 below full reservoir; no change.

BIEN HOA, SOUTH VIET NAM — Air Force emergency workers carefully give a once-over to an exploded bomb from a B-57 bomber lying in the rubble of the Bien Hoa Air Base flight line during clean-up operations following the disastrous explosions. A military spokesman said as many as 27 Americans may have died in the explosions that destroyed 22 bomb-laden planes. (UPI Cablephoto)

Viet Accident Toll May Reach 27

Clear Base of Bombs

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Demolition experts, working with special time charges, today blew up four 500-pound bombs strewn across the Bien Hoa Air Base by the chain explosion Sunday that left 27 Americans dead or missing and 103 wounded.

Another 500-pound bomb buried in the smoldering wreckage of some of the 40 planes destroyed or damaged went off by itself. No one was hurt, but hazards remained from the rest of 10 such bombs, rated as unstable.

Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Moore, commander of U.S. Air Force operations in Viet Nam and Thailand, said the bombs were fitted with detonation devices that could not be disarmed, and delayed action fuses might set them off any time within the next few days.

Among those reported missing was A-1c William Crawford whose wife, Mrs. Suzanne Crawford, is reported to live in Windsor. Early reports stated Crawford's mother, Mrs. Lou Van Cannon, lived in Sedalia. The Democrat-Capital learned today that the mother had moved to Clark, Mo., which is located south of Moberly.

"We have evacuated all personnel from the area until our disposal units decide what to do with the bombs," Moore said.

A U.S. spokesman said five Americans killed in the blasts Sunday have been identified and 22 others are listed as missing or presumed dead. He said 103 Americans — 29 Army men and 74 Air Force personnel — were injured.

One of the unstable, high-power bombs buried in the wreckage went off while U.S. and Vietnamese crews were cleaning up the area devastated by Sunday's blast. There were no new casualties, but officials feared other bombs might go off.

"We have evacuated all personnel from the area until our disposal experts decide what to do with the bombs," said Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Moore, commander of U.S. Air Force operations in Viet Nam and Thailand.

The explosions at the base 12 miles north of Saigon Sunday caused more death, injury and destruction to U.S. forces than any single Communist attack of the war.

Gen. Moore said after a preliminary investigation: "I am satisfied no sabotage was involved. It was an accidental explosion of a bomb on an aircraft which spread to the others."

"The Viet Cong couldn't have done a better job themselves even if they had worked on it all year," said one U.S. Air Force officer.

U.S. officials said the disaster began with the explosion of a bomb that had been loaded aboard a B-57 jet bomber for an attack against the Communist guerrillas. Within seconds neighboring planes in the flight, surrounded by crewmen and ordnance men, began exploding and burning.

Napalm bombs, white phosphorus fire bombs and 750-pound bombs all went up. Five minutes after the initial blast, the jet plane ramp was a mass of smoldering debris. Forty planes were destroyed or damaged, and the control tower was knocked out of operation for several hours.

The Air Force sent Lt. Gen. William K. Martin, its inspector general, and a team of experts from Washington to investigate.

Cable TV, Major Item For Council

CATV looms again as the major issue on the City Council agenda tonight as the council meets in regular session at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall. Both opponents and proponents of a cable television system are expected to be on hand.

The council heard final proposals from five firms bidding for the right to operate a community antenna television system here in a closed-door session Thursday night in the office of Mayor L. L. Studer.

Whether or not the council will proceed to a vote tonight on the granting of a CATV license apparently remains to be decided in private pre-council session at 6:30 p.m.

Mayor Studer said City Clerk Ralph Dedrick is preparing a recapitulation of the proposals submitted by the five firms and this will be ready for the councilmen tonight. But the mayor said he could not state whether or not the council will vote on granting the license.

While CATV firms have been courting the council for a license, a group petitioning for a public vote on the proposed cable system has been meeting with good success.

"We have upward to 1,500 names on our petitions and we plan to submit these to the council tonight," Claude H. Knight, chairman of the Sedalia Television Association told The Democrat-Capital Monday morning.

"In addition we still have over 100 petitions out and these won't be picked up until this week." Each petition blank being circulated by Knight's group contains space for 18 signatures, thus there is the potential of some 1,800 more signers.

Knight and representatives of the Television Electronic Service Association of Missouri were declined a closed-door meeting with the mayor and council Friday by Mayor Studer. The mayor instead told Knight that the group could appear before the council in open session and be heard.

"I consider it a great honor to receive a special invitation to attend the open meeting," Knight countered today, "for I didn't know that I was barred. I do intend to be there."

In another development in the CATV controversy, Sedalia's local channel, KMOS-TV, has initiated a new station identification trailer . . . "offering free identification for west central Missouri." (Please turn to page 4, col. 6)

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am married to a man who drowns everything in catsup. Before we were married I noticed Louie's mother always had two bottles on the table and the whole family went for it like crazy. But have you ever heard of catsup on fried eggs? Well that's the way Louie likes 'em. Lots of people use catsup with French fries—but on mashed potatoes, too?

The other night we were at the home of friends and someone mentioned that Louie could never be a blood donor because he probably doesn't have blood—only catsup. This got a big laugh. Then Louie said, "I eat catsup on everything, even ice cream."

With that, the hostess brought him a dish of chocolate ice cream and a bottle of catsup. All eyes were on Louie as he poured about one-third of the bottle on the ice cream. This was after three vodka martinis and I was hoping he would get sick as a dog. But he didn't. I got sick.

This morning I phoned our doctor and asked if so much catsup could injure Louie's health. He said "I check your husband regularly. He is in good condition. Catsup won't hurt him." What do I do now?—SEEING RED.

Dear Red: Now accept the fact that Louie is hooked on catsup. Keep plenty on hand and make no mention of his excesses. When he grows up he won't resort to cheap parlor stunts in an effort to capture an audience.

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column you said, "People don't have to be invited to the home of the bereaved after the funeral they just go."

I wish you hadn't printed that, Ann. In our town we have a couple of nutty women who show up at every funeral whether they know the family or not.

They are the first ones in the church, always getting as close to the family as possible so they can see how everybody is taking it. If there is a service at the cemetery they are right there—rain or shine—standing at the grave, gawking and rubbernecking. If a widow or mother faints, their day is complete. Then they crowd into the car of a relative because they know a free meal is in sight.

Speaking for myself, I hate funerals and dread it when I have to attend one. Will you tell me what makes people WANT to see others grieving?—P.L.R.

Dear P.L.R.: Morbid curiosity—the same twisted emotion that makes some people rush to the scene of an accident. One in 50 wants to help but most of the accident-chasers want only to look.

Of course it's sick, but nothing can be done to keep such people away unless the funeral is declared private and a guard is posted at the door with the list of those who have been invited.

Dear Ann Landers: Our school is having a big dance. This is one dance I don't want to miss, no matter what. I'm scared to death some creep will ask me and I'll be stuck. On the other hand, if I turn the creep down I may not get asked by anyone better. Then I'd end up staying home.

As you can see, I am in a terrible spot. Any advice?—UNCERTAIN.

Dear Uncertain: I've never bought the idea that ANY date is better than none. But why should a girl who is A-1, super-deluxe herself worry about getting snatched up by a creep? Why aren't the top guys beating her door down? Clue me. I'm baffled.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Crowds Cheer Klan Trio At Rallies

SANFORD, N.C. (AP) — Col. Wilkins and two other men accused of slaying a Detroit civil-rights worker attracted thousands of North Carolinians to Ku Klux Klan rallies during the weekend.

Wilkins, 21, whose murder trial recently ended in a hung jury, was dressed smartly in a conservative business suit. He smoked a cigar and signed autographs at the rallies.

A crowd of 6,000 cheered loudly at Dunn Saturday night when Alabama attorney Matt Murphy Jr. introduced Wilkins and two others charged in the case. W. O. Eaton, 41, and Gene Thomas, 42.

Some 2,000 greeted the Alabamians with cheers at Sanford Sunday evening.

North Carolina's KKK grand dragon, Robert Jones of Granite Quarry, called the Dunn rally "among our best yet" and said Murphy would be back next weekend for a march and rally at Farmville, another small eastern North Carolina tobacco town.

Murphy and the three men charged in the slaying of Viola Liuzzo the night the Selma-to-Montgomery march ended came to North Carolina as part of a new KKK drive for membership and funds.

One woman at the Sanford rally went through the crowd asking for contributions toward the purchase of a Klan airplane. Murphy, chief counsel for the United Klans of America and the chief speaker at both rallies, charged that the civil-rights movement is Communist backed and directed.

"The NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People) is actually ruled by an international Zionist Jewish movement which wants to take over the government of the U.S.A.," Murphy said.

Bareheaded but wearing Klan robes, Murphy said that "international Communist banking (sic) led by Zionist Jews" masterminds the civil-rights movement.

"Not until banking is returned to the constitutional government," he said, "shall we be saved from the Communist conspiracy."

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation.

Hi, Ho, Silver Problem...

While inflation has cut the purchasing power of the dollar by more than half over the past quarter-century or so, paradoxically the value of money itself, at least in coins, has quintupled.

In 1933, the intrinsic value—the actual value of the metal, which has nothing to do with purchasing power—in 50 pennies was two cents. In 1964 it was 10 cents. The metal value of 10 nickels rose from one cent to five cents in the same period.

And where the metal in five dimes, two quarters or a half dollar was worth nine cents in 1933, it is now worth 47 cents.

These last three coins, which contain about 90 per cent silver, tell a startling story of our time: Silver is simply becoming too valuable to be used as money.

Only a slight rise in the price of silver would make the intrinsic value of these coins exceed their face value—with a resultant hoarding that could raise hob with the economy.

United States consumption of silver for coins has increased drastically in recent years. Domestic industrial needs have grown less rapidly, but are going up. Add to this the industrial and coinage requirements of other nations.

Since silver is only a small by-product of copper, lead and zinc mining, and the amount that is mined every year is less than half the amount needed, the Free World will register a silver deficit of about 440 million ounces in 1965.

The 1.2-billion-ounce silver stock of the U.S. Treasury Department is the only supply that can make up this deficit. But at present rates of demand, this supply will be used up in three years.

A reduction of the silver content in coins to 30 per cent, as the silver mining industry has urged, would only postpone the depletion of the Treasury stockpile. Worse, it might cause a price rise in silver—or speculation of one—and lead to even worse hoarding than exists today and even the melting down of coins.

The only apparent solution seems to be to mint dimes, quarters and halves out of some nonsilver alloy. But this raises the problem of how to make them work in the nation's millions of vending machines without making the coins too costly to produce or requiring an expensive changeover in vending machine mechanisms.

This is the silver cloud with a black lining that presently hangs over the heads of the Treasury Department and Congress.

Delay Battle Over Cigarette Labeling

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson's column is written today by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — This column can now report the secret debate inside the Senate Commerce Committee when nine senators lined up on the side of cigarettes and lung cancer while eight lined up against. The debate was over the question of requiring the cigarette companies to give health warnings in their billion dollars of advertising urging the American people to smoke.

The closed-door debate took place on May 4, not long after Edward R. Murrow died of lung cancer after a distinguished career as a commentator in which he was continually shown on television smoking a cigarette.

Only three Democratic senators lined up on the side of the cigarette industry: Vance Hartke, Ind., the leader of the pro-cigarette clique; Ross Bass, Tenn., whose state produces some tobacco; and Bob Bartlett of Alaska, whose state is a long way from the tobacco industry.

All six Republicans on the Commerce Committee voted against a health warning in cigarette advertising. They were led by Thurston Morton of the tobacco-raising state of Kentucky. When it came time to vote, Morton, a former GOP national chairman, pulled five proxies out of his pocket, including those of senators as far from tobacco states as Vermont and New Hampshire.

They were: Norris Cotton, N. H.; Hugh Scott, Pa.; Winston Prouty, Vt.; Peter Dominick, Colo.; and James Pearson, Kansas, whose state, up until a few years ago, banned cigarette sales by law.

The eight Democratic senators who tied to warn the public of the health hazard in cigarette advertising were led by Warren Magnuson of Wash., himself a cigar smoker, and included John Pastore, R. I.; Mike Monroney, Okla.; Gale McGee, Wyo.; Philip Hart, Mich.; Howard Cannon, Nev.; Dan Brewster, Md.; and Maurine Neuberger, Ore., whose husband died of cancer and who has been the chief battler in the Senate against lung cancer.

Sen. Frank Lausche, the Ohio Independent, was not present and did not give his proxy to Chairman Magnuson.

"Pick Your Poison"

Under present law, the Federal Trade Commission has a right to regulate advertising and it was about to impose a health warning on the tobacco companies effective July 1. It was to head off the FTC's right to regulate that the tobacco lobby pushed its legislation.

Chairman Magnuson, who opposed the lobby, stated his belief that everyone "has a right to choose his own poison, but at least he ought to know what the poison is."

Therefore the Magnuson Bill required the amount of tar and nicotine to be stated on the cigarette label, plus this warning: "Continual smoking may be hazardous to your health."

When the Senate Commerce Committee met in its first executive session, Magnuson and Mrs. Neuberger insisted this warning must be on the front of the package.

Hartke, who has acted as a tobacco industry spokesman, then offered an amendment permanently barring the FTC regulation and also barring all local and state governments from ever requiring a warning in cigarette advertising.

"Look," said Magnuson, "it may be that this advertising warning shouldn't go into effect right away. Maybe they should have a chance to let the warning on the label work — but we can't do this permanently. Maybe there ought to be a delay of a year or so."

Magnuson then offered an amendment amending the Hartke amendment. This in effect would have suspended for three years the FTC power to regulate advertising.

The committee, however, refused to listen. Committee filibuster

At this point the chairman became very voluble. Various senators talked at once. But the Swede from Seattle just didn't seem to hear. Before anyone really knew what was happening, the meeting was over.

When the committee resumed in closed-door session two days later, Tennessee's Bass offered a five-year suspension of the FTC power to regulate cigarette advertising.

"It's just too long," said Magnuson. "It shouldn't be any longer than three — three is long enough."

Sen. Pastore of Rhode Island then moved to table the five-year compromise. He lost, 8 to 9, with Hartke, Bass and Bartlett joining all six Republicans.

Magnuson's unhappiness was clearly apparent.

"Maggie, we don't want to go to the floor divided," said Kentucky's Morton. "We'll give you four years."

"No," said the adamant Magnuson.

"All right," said Bass. "We'll give you three years."

Committee aides were astounded. The vote definitely was for the tobacco lobby. It was able to deliver nine senators whereas Magnuson could deliver only eight even for a three-year ban on the FTC.

Magnuson was unperturbed. He stood up, walked out and blandly announced to the press: "The committee unanimously adopted the bill on my amendment, pre-empting the FTC to three years."

No one on the committee dared challenge the chairman. They knew he would rather fight than switch; that he could probably get Ohio's Lausche to come around and vote or else could create so much bad publicity for the New England Republicans that they would switch.

The battle over cigarettes and lung cancer continues on the Senate floor today.

LBJ Faces Test With Industries

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's hands-off policy toward big labor disputes faces a severe test this summer in two critical industries — steel and aerospace.

A strike in either industry would be a severe blow to Johnson's domestic, defense and space programs, and early trouble signs indicate tough sledding in both sets of negotiations.

The double-barreled crisis — if it crystallizes — will come at the height of the summer heat in August and could melt the White House resolve to let labor and management work out their own problems.

The steel industry is already balking at a pointed White House hint that it can afford to raise wages 3 per cent without a price hike.

In aerospace, militant union spokesmen predict a crisis if their demands for a union shop — plus a big wage hike — aren't met.

The steel talks — resuming May 18 after a May 1 strike deadline was narrowly averted — cover more than 400,000 members of the United Steelworkers Union, AFL-CIO.

Talks in the aerospace industry involve some 150,000 members of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers and the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists.

The earliest new steel strike deadline is Sept. 1, with Aug. 1 the date for serving notice to the 10 major firms involved.

Aerospace contracts with Douglas, Lockheed, Boeing and North American expire at various dates from July to September but auto workers Vice President Leonard Woodcock views August as the critical month.

Steel and aerospace union leaders complain recent contracts have not kept pace with White House guidelines, which judge noninflationary wage hikes on the basis of man-hour productivity increases. For industry as a whole, the figure suggested by the President's Council of Economic Advisers is 3.2 per cent.

In a special report on steel, the council suggested 3 per cent as the guideline.

This nettled steel industry officials, who contend it gave union negotiators extra ammunition to carry back to the bargaining table. But the Steelworkers Union says the guideline figure is too low — it wants 17 or 18 cents an hour. Wages and fringe benefits now average $4.40 an hour.

The auto workers say aerospace production and maintenance workers at $2.95 an hour lag behind average wages of $3.07 in the auto industry. The machinists have already laid down a demand for 57 cents an hour spread over three years.

But it is the demand for union security that is expected to trigger the most trouble in aerospace.

Some of the aerospace firms have "strange ideological fixations" against the union shop, says Woodcock.

The union shop would require all workers covered by the contracts to join the union.

The auto workers are willing to settle for the agency shop, under which every nonmember would have to pay the equivalent of union dues but would not have to join the union.

Congressional hearings scheduled soon on the repeal of section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, which permits the states to outlaw the union shop, will doubtless heighten the tension in the aerospace talks.

In both steel and aerospace, any strike would shut down the entire industry — not just a few firms.

If this happens, President Johnson might claim the national interest is being injured and he could step in to halt the strike.

James Marlow, who usually writes this column, is on vacation. He returns Tuesday.

Bond Issue Measure Now Up To The Senate

A bond election bill introduced months ago by Rep. Philip Scaglia of Kansas City is expected to come up shortly before the Senate Judiciary Committee and if approved could be a boon to Missouri taxpayers.

This particular Scaglia bill would seriously limit the calling of special bond issue elections. It, in effect, would provide a cooling off period between elections on issues which had been defeated.

Hardly a week goes by in Missouri today that some sort of bond issue proposal isn't being placed on the ballot. This includes both general obligation and revenue notes.

Such civic improvements as installation of natural gas systems, waterworks, sewerage projects and industrial development usually are financed under revenue bonds. However, school construction falls under general obligation bonds.

Today, if a bond proposal is beaten, it can be called up for vote after vote and often finally is passed because of smaller voter turnouts or apathy on the part of the electorate.

All such elections cost money, ranging from relatively minor amounts in small districts to the thousands of dollars in metropolitan areas. When Scaglia first introduced the bill it called for a 12-month waiting period after an issue was defeated. This has now been amended to nine months.

Also, said Scaglia, the bill "has a hidden benefit for the voters in that it should restore their confidence in elected officials."

By this he meant that public officers would be more inclined to present pertinent data to the voters and go through a greater planning effort before submission of bond issues.

Although Scaglia ran into little opposition in the House, he is keeping a wary eye on the Senate. Here, he indicated, he has almost enough votes sewed up to get it out of committee, but there can always be last minute switches.

Observed Scaglia wryly, "When it reaches the Senate floor, there's no telling what might happen."

Surprisingly enough, school officials have expressed little or no opposition to the measure which will affect them directly. One official of the state teachers association said that while the group was aware of the bill and keeping a close watch over it, they are interested in other bills having a more direct effect on schools.

Hearnes Gets Succession Bill

Governor Warren E. Hearnes is a happy man these days, receiving more cooperation from the legislature than even his more articulate supporters ever hoped for. The latest crop by the young Chief Executive is passage of a measure to allow a governor to serve two terms.

The resolution, of course, will have to be placed before the state electorate as a proposed constitutional amendment, with only a simple majority needed for passage. Hearnes had warned that if the General Assembly wouldn't go along with him on this issue, he would take his case to the people. The General Assembly, at least, has saved him this much effort.

Records Management Bill Nears Passage

Rep. Alex Petrovic's proposal to set up a state records management system at a substantial savings to Missouri appears to be well on its way to the governor for signing. The bill previously passed the House and last week was endorsed by the Senate.

However, due to a technicality concerning an emergency clause, the measure will have to be returned to the House, with little difficulty expected.

Basically, the bill would permit initial destruction of 25 per cent of the state's record collection which, in effect, would give the state the equivalent of 12,000 four-drawer filing cabinets.

In the past, any department wishing to destroy outdated records had to get approval by the legislature, but machinery under Petrovic's bill allows a commission to pass on this. Comprising the commission would be the Secretary of State, State Auditor, Attorney General and representatives from the House, Senate and State Historical Society.

In neighboring Illinois, which has a similar statute, the first year's savings realized reportedly topped the $200,000 mark on file cabinets alone. First year savings to Missouri are expected to exceed $670,000 through obtaining more usable office space, reducing the cost of microfilming, and the buying of new filing cabinets, etc.

Are Committees Doing Their Job?

One problem area confronting the state legislature is the committee method of passing on proposed bills and there are some who feel these committees just aren't doing their job. Some place the blame squarely on the part of the legislators who play "personality."

"Too often legislation which should be killed by committee isn't for the simple reason that a member uses the back-scratching method (you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours.)"

Rep. Mel Carnahan, the new Majority Floor Leader, says there's really no one remedy for the situation under present conditions because of too few staff members, lack of tenure on committees, etc.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

So-Called 'Death Ray' Can Save Many Lives

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Association

The "death ray" of science fiction is here. Although laser light rays can be deadly, they have important uses in many fields.

These rays get their name from the principle employed—light amplification by the stimulated emission of radiation.

An ordinary light wave is supercharged after it passes through a ruby crystal. The beam that is emitted may be as thin as the lead in your pencil, but its light is more powerful than that of the sun. It can burn through steel.

Its use in medicine is still experimental but, because it can be focused on a very small area, it has been used to destroy cancers without damaging the surrounding healthy tissue. The laser beam can be used for this purpose only where a cancer can be seen on the surface of the skin or a body cavity that can be reached through some such device as a cystoscope (bladder), gastroscope (stomach) or proctoscope (rectum). Other tumors exposed in the conventional way by surgical operation have been treated by laser with excellent results.

Another experimental use is a process similar to arc welding that is applied to detached retinas. The laser beam causes coagulation of the tissues which then become adherent and remain "glued" together. This has the advantage of working with lightning speed. The patient is not required to hold his eye still for more than a thousandth of a second.

The rays may also be used to stop bleeding from small blood vessels. It would seem that the "death ray," when properly used, can also be a life saver. Its use will be limited, however, until more knowledge is obtained as to how it works and what measures are necessary for its safe handling.

Q—Would it be harmful to have 10 chest X-rays in one year?

A—No. Modern X-ray equipment gives you a very short exposure to a limited part of your body. Everyone is exposed to an amount of radiation from the atmosphere that is 100 times greater than the amount you would get from having a chest X-ray 12 times a year.

Your doctor understands the dangers involved in over-exposure to X-rays and when he orders an X-ray he considers that the benefits to be gained far outweigh any possible hazard.

Q—Can shock treatments be given in a doctor's office?

A—This is not an office procedure. It requires a team consisting of a doctor and one or more nurses specially trained in this method of treatment. Careful supervision is required to prevent accidental injury.

Summer Garden Crops

There is still time this week to plant all the summer vegetables.

Beans — bush, pole, and lima. We suggest planting the small-seeded limas. They exhibit the ability to set blooms under our usual adverse weather conditions in late June and early July. Too often large-seeded limas fail to set blooms at all.

There are many good varieties of bush beans. Topcrop and Contender are still at the top of the list. You might want to try some of the newer varieties introduced in recent years. However, most have not proven superior to Topcrop or Contender under Missouri conditions.

For pole beans we have two different types to choose from. The old time variety, Kentucky Wonder, is a good producer. It has a characteristic flavor that has won favor among bean eaters for many years. Blue Lake (stringless strains) is a popular canning bean.

Sweet Corn — so many varieties to choose from. I have been impressed by the earliness that plant breeders are getting in sweet corn varieties and yet retaining quality characteristics usually only obtained in mid-season to late sweet corn varieties.

One of the best early types, considering size of ear and excellent quality, is a variety called Hybrid Pride of Canada. This variety matures in 58 days and has a 6 to 8 inch ear. Gold Rush, maturing in about 70 days, provides a good ear of good quality. F. M. Cross matures in 78 or 79 days and is of good quality.

One might plant the old measure of quality in sweet corn—Golden Cross Bantam. Or perhaps you want to try the new Illini Chief Super Sweet claimed to have twice the sugar content of other sweet corn varieties. Both Golden Cross Bantam and Illini Chief Super Sweet mature in about 85 days. A good late maturing variety (93 days) is Stowell's Evergreen Hybrid, a white corn.

If you look back you will note we have sweet corn that matures in 58 days on the one hand and sweet corn that matures in 93 days on the other. And there are varieties available that mature at most any date between. Choose two, three or four varieties of sweet corn that mature about a week to 10 days apart. Plant two or more rows of each variety on the same date. This could give you a continuous harvest of sweet corn for perhaps more than a month. And it avoids problems we sometimes encounter when we try to plant the same variety of corn every ten days or two weeks to have a succession harvest.

Squash — both summer and winter varieties. Too many people yet do not fully appreciate the place of squash in the garden or on the dinner plate. Summer squash varieties available today are many — Early Prolific Straightneck, Yellow Crookneck, White Bush Scallop, Cocozelle, Caserta, Zucchini, and now a host of hybrids are available.

Most are bush type vines that do not take up much space. You only need a few vines to supply your family with all the squash you can eat, all summer long.

Winter varieties are centered around those types that are of good quality and do not get overly large. Buttercup, Buttercup, and Acorn or Table Queen are among the best winter type squash varieties.

Beans, sweet corn, squash. They can provide some mighty good eating this summer! Get them planted — NOW!

Pasture Rent for Cow and Calf

Livestock men wanting to rent pasture are asking how much they can afford to pay in a cow-calf operation.

M-U Extension Farm management Specialist Ed Wiggins says livestock men generally pay the going pasture rental in their area if they want to rent pasture. Rates charged in a given area are influenced by custom, kind and amount of pasture, and demand by farmers for the pasture. Monthly rental rates are cheaper during the spring and summer than during fall and winter.

Wiggins says a cow and calf will consume about two-and-a-half tons of hay on pasture. This has a value of around nine-dollars a ton for a total value of around $21.50. For a six months period of pasture, this would break down to $3.50 per month.

Herbicide Incorporation Tools

Farmers throughout Missouri are hearing about new methods of herbicide incorporation. Many are asking what the University of Missouri recommends in incorporating weed control herbicides such as Treflan and Eptam.

Extension Field Crops Specialist Bill Murphy says there is a difference in the degree of incorporation needed for materials such as Eptam and Treflan. Eptam merely needs to be covered with soil to prevent volatilization, while Treflan needs to be thoroughly mixed with the soil. Equipment that will give such a thorough mixing, and at the same time will control the depth of mixing, is needed.

An M-U Current Report entitled "Trifluralin for Weed Control in Cotton" gives information on various incorporation tools for various soil situations. Copies may be obtained from County University Extension Centers in the cotton area of the state, or by requesting a copy from the Mailing Room, 417 South Fifth, University of Missouri in Columbia.

What Is Starter Fertilizer

A wide difference in the meaning of "starter fertilizer" has brought some question for a definition of the term "starter fertilizer."

M-U Extension Soils Specialist John Falloon says a starter is a mixed fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphate, and potash. It is placed close to the seed at planting time to stimulate rapid, vigorous growth of young plants. This contrasts to the treatment necessary to nourish fully the crop all the way from planting to maturity. This "finisher" treatment is often called a basic or corrective treatment.

A starter fertilizer must be applied at planting time, but the time of application alone doesn't mean that a treatment is a starter. The corrective or basic treatment to nourish well all through the growing season may also be made at planting time, although it often is plowed down. The corrective treatment may be a row application made at seeding time, but the purpose is season-long nutrition and not "starter" effect.

In other words, starter fertilizer is a rapid, vigorous growth, not nourishment for the entire season.

Boys Available For Farm Jobs

Russell Carr, Manager of the Sedalia office of the Division of Employment Security, announced today that high school boys will be available for part time farm work this summer. Eleven high schools were contacted in Johnson, Morgan, and Pettis Counties and 132 boys were registered for farm work.

These boys are eager to work and in the past they have proved to be good help in hay and other farm activities. The State Employment Service hopes that area farmers will give them a chance to earn this summer and help finance their schooling for next year.

There will be 40 boys available in Pettis County from the time school is out this month until Sept. 1. Wages will be agreed upon by the employer and employee.

Farmers who are interested in securing part time farm workers may leave an order with Sam Sloan, Jr. of Green Ridge, Jim Wiley of Hughesville, W. C. Jones of LaMonte, and L. D. Hoehns of Smithton. These men serve as Volunteer Farm Placement Representatives and there is no charge for this service to the employers or workers.

Farmers near Sedalia who are interested in securing temporary farm labor are urged to contact Dick Laffoon, Farm Placement Representative, State Employment Office, 215 East Fifth, Sedalia, Missouri.

Junior Membership To Robert Wheeler

Robert L. Wheeler, 17, LaMonte, has been granted a junior membership in the American Angus Association at St. Joseph, announces Glen Bratcher, secretary.

This new junior membership entitles the member to register purebred Angus at regular membership rates and to the privileges of the association until the age of 21. At that time junior members are eligible to convert to lifetime memberships in the association.

Robert was one of 212 young people in the United States to receive junior memberships last month.

Eve Returns To Her Old Film Career

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Money isn't everything," says Eve Arden with such conviction that you find yourself wanting to believe her.

The lanky, wry-voiced comedienne was explaining how she happened to turn her back on a thriving career to live with her family in Europe for two years.

Eve is back at her old profession of tossing comedy lines with the same skill and accuracy Sandy Koufax displays with a baseball. She is making her film return after a five-year absence to play a WAF lieutenant in "Sergeant Deadhead."

The film has afforded her a sentimental reunion with Gale Gordon, her principal in "Our Miss Brooks." It seems incredible that it has been eight years since the television series ended — maybe the continual reruns make it seem more recent.

Eve looks her same handsome self, and she admitted that she never felt better. The two-year sabbatical had a lot to do with that. How did it come about?

"Well, we always talked about how nice it would be to show the children Europe," she explained. "So one day we just decided to do it."

She and husband Brooks West packed up the four children, closed the ranch and flew to Rome. They stayed in a hotel until they discovered it was too noisy, then rented a villa outside the city.

After six months at the villa, the family set up residence in London for a year. The older daughter, Liza, went to school in Switzerland, while Connie attended a dramatic academy in London. The younger boys, Duncan and Douglas, were enrolled at a school within walking distance from home.

The West family took a tour of the Continent before coming home. Now all of them are willing to return at any time. "It was a marvelous experience for us as a family," said Eve. "I highly recommend it."

Mrs. Whittall presided, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Louis Staples led in singing "An Evening Prayer."

A lesson will be presented by R-I Hustlers 4-H Club June 1 at the home of Mrs. Elroy Schroeder.

This special alfalfa fertilizer with Sul-Po-Mag makes Alfalfa yields go up a ton or more per acre. You get better quality hay—leafier, greener, with more feeding value.

Sul-Po-Mag is a natural blend of sulphur, potash and magnesium—all vital to good alfalfa—all 100% water soluble and usable by your crop. Nearly all hay-producing soils are sulphur deficient. Adequate sulphur is needed to build good root systems, make plants larger, bushier, healthier. Potash is a prime mover of protein, starches and oils that increase the feed value of your hay. Magnesium is an essential part of chlorophyll and is necessary in the production of carbohydrates.

Come in or call and we'll show you how to make 20 to 30 more bales per acre.

Old Formula Still Works

Easton Era Ends With Win In Big Eight Track Meet

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The Bill Easton Era in Big Eight track ended in typical fashion at the 37th league meet here Saturday, with his Kansas team taking the team trophy while Nebraska's Little Sprinter, Charlie Greene won the Schulte Award for the top individual.

Kansas won it with a formula identical to Easton's 1963 and 1964 title teams—only three gold medals, team balance, a 58-point blow in the seven field events and heavy scoring in the triple jump and three-mile. The Jayhawks produced career bests in five events.

Easton, 61, was fired last month in a policy dispute. But he was laughing and joking after his squad wrapped up another crown.

Easton's Kansas teams, starting with his first year 1947-48, have scored 360.3 points in NCAA outdoor championship meets, with NCAA titles in 1959 and 1960, second place in 1956 and 1948, third in 1955 and fourth in 1957.

The other seven teams combined have scored 426.9 points since 1948 in NCAA meets, with runner-up Missouri more than 257 points behind Kansas in the Easton Era. His domination matches Bud Wilkinson's in football.

In his 18 years, Easton's teams have won 12 outdoor, 11 indoor and 16 cross country Big Eight crowns, or 39 league titles compared to 15 by the rest of the league combined. The Jayhawks won with 100 points at Lincoln, giving them 2,034.8 in league outdoor meets under Easton — 655 more than any other team.

Greene, a talkative sophomore, set a 220 record of 20.8 in the trials Friday, anchored the Husker 440 relay team to a record-equalling 40.5 Saturday, then won the 100 and 220 in 9.8 and 21.4 against a stiff wind.

John Lawson of Kansas

smashed the meet three-mile record in 14.09.6, fourth best time in league history.

Colorado's Jim Miller equalled his own meet record of 36.4 in the 330 hurdles. Miller and Missouri's Robin Lingle, with a 4.06.1 mile, were the only repeat champions.

Lawson ruined Lingle's bid for another three-mile gold medal by sprinting 200 yards—on an impulse — during the seventh lap. Lingle said "When he went by I thought, 'go with him, don't go with him, go with him. By then it was too late.'"

Every team in the league had at least one first place, none more than three. This has happened only once before, in 1951.

Oklahoma was second with 91 points as Bill Calhoun took the 440 in 46.7, anchored the mile relay to a winning 3:11.4, and sprinter Jim Jackson was second to Greene in the 100, 220 and 440 relay.

Missouri had 84, Oklahoma State 70, Nebraska 64, Colorado 63, K-State 42 and Iowa State 13. The winds held the record performances to four, but OSU's John Perry edged brother Dave in 1.49.6, sixth-tenths off the mark, and Missouri's Steve Herndon cleared 6-8 1/4 despite the winds, compared to the meet record of 6-8 1/2.

Other winners were K-State Bill Floerke with a 246-7 javelin throw, Gary Schwartz of Kansas 170-9 discus, Glenn Martin of Kansas 48-10 1/4 triple jump, Lynn Baker of Colorado 24-6 1/4 broad jump, Jim Farrell of Oklahoma 14-6 pole vault and Darryl Green of Iowa State 14.8 high hurdles.

Mays Scoots Home With Winning Run

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Give Willie Mays five feet, and he'll take 90.

Mays, on another one of his early season streaks, scooted home on a not-too-wild pitch with the winning run in San Francisco's 4-3 victory over Houston in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday.

Mays also starred in the opener, cracking his 13th home run as the Giants won 10-5.

The 34-year-old Giant whiz reached first base in the sixth inning of the nightcap when first-baseman Jim Beachamp dropped Joe Morgan's throw. He stole second, then moved to third on a ground out.

With Tom Haller at bat, Houston's Jim Owens uncorked a pitch that wound up five feet in front of the plate. Mays, spotting the ball 85 feet away, won the race home—and the game.

That dashing play climaxed a prolific day for Mays, who rapped five hits in seven at bats, scored four runs and drove in two.

The performance pushed the center fielder's major league-leading average to .408 and continued to duplicate his streak early last year.

In other National League games, Milwaukee trimmed Philadelphia 8-6 in 10 innings, New York swept Cincinnati 6-2 and 8-5, St. Louis rolled over Pittsburgh 6-3 and 5-1 and Los Angeles edged Chicago 3-2 after losing 5-3 in 10 innings.

Mays doubled in one run and scored another in the fourth inning of the second game.

The Astros made it close on Jim Wynn's seventh-inning homer and Joe Morgan's two-run single in the eighth.

Juan Marichal brought his record to 6-3 in the opener behind homers by Willie McCovey, Mays, Jim Hart and Haller. Houston's Dave Glust was battered for seven singles in 1-1-3 innings as he lost his first game after winning six.

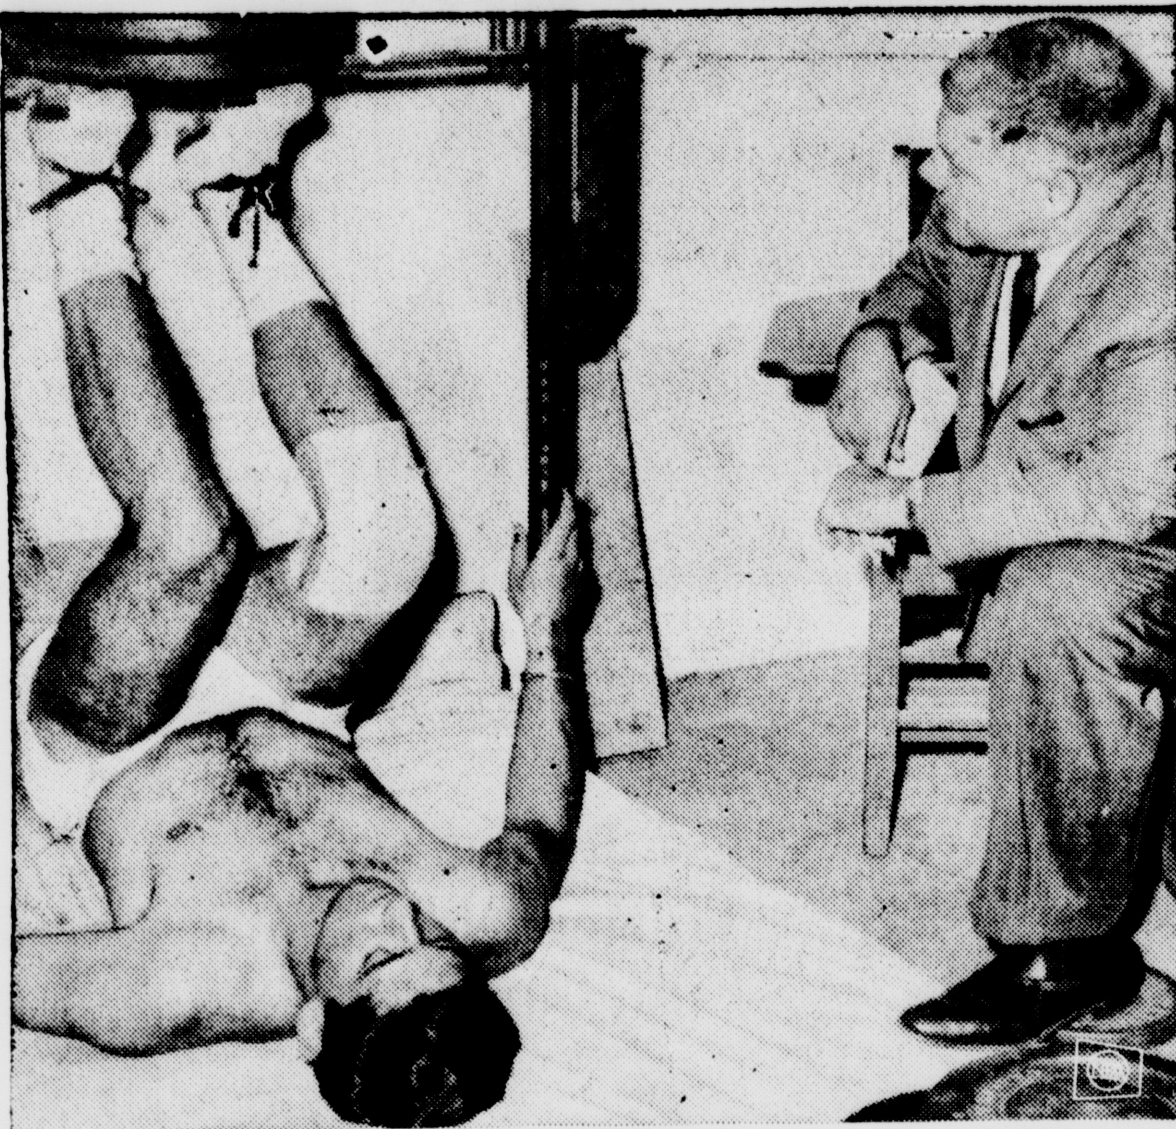

Milwaukee rallied for three runs in the 10th inning, the first two on Gene Oliver's bases-loaded double, for its triumph over the Phillies. Bobby Wine helped the Braves by throwing high on Ed Mathews' leadoff grounder. It was Philadelphia's 42nd error in 29 games.

The Mets moved 4 1/2 games away from last-place Pittsburgh by defeating the Reds twice. Jack Fisher won his third straight game in the opener behind home runs by Johnny Lewis, Charlie Smith and Roy McMillan.

Smith and Ron Swoboda connected in the second game, helping Warren Spahn even his record at 3-3.

St. Louis' Bob Gibson became the winningest pitcher in the majors, scattering 10 hits for his seventh victory against no defeats. Gibson also homered in the ninth inning of the first game.

The Pirates dropped their 20th game in the last 24 in the second game as Ray Washburn and Bob Purkey combined for a six-hitter. The Cardinals put the game away with three runs in the eighth. Ken Boyer and Bill White each driving in one. Billy Williams snapped a 1-1

CHECKING THE MERCHANDISE—Weeb Ewbank, coach of the New York Jets, has a deep interest in the young man exercising with the leg weights. It's Joe Namath who signed with the Jets for $400,000 and is testing his knee following an operation last winter.

Giant Step By Sullivan

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Haywood Sullivan can win a few more games, he might find himself riding around in a green and gold air-conditioned trailer with piped-in music for his listening pleasure.

The new manager of the Kansas City Athletics took a giant step toward taking over Charley the Mule's trailer as well as the animal's place in Charley Finley's heart by halting a seven-game losing streak Sunday with a doubleheader sweep over Minnesota 7-4 in 10 innings and 4-2.

Sullivan, a former catcher with Boston and Kansas City who had been managing at Vancouver, got the call from owner

Finley during the weekend and replaced Mal McGaha. He became Finley's fifth manager in five years and the youngest in the majors at 34.

He went to work immediately and found a willing ally in Rene Lachemann, a former Dodger bat boy. Lachemann was sent up as a pinch hitter in the opener and produced the tying run with a ninth-inning single, then was inserted into the line-up in the nightcap and responded with two singles and a homer.

A couple of more moves like that and the Mule may get his eviction papers.

Meanwhile, the American League-leading Chicago White Sox swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Angels 6-2 and 5-4, Boston downed Detroit 5-0 and 4-3, Washington edged Cleveland 8-7 in 11 innings before the Indians won 7-3 and Baltimore defeated the New York Yankees 7-5 in the only single game scheduled.

After Lachemann drove in the tying run in the opener for the A's, Ed Charles won it in the 10th with a three-run homer following singles by John Blanchard and Dick Green. Green hit two homers and Gentle one for Kansas City while Jimmie Hall and Tony Oliva connected for the Twins.

Pete Ward and Moose Skowron supplied the major fireworks for the White Sox in the opener. Ward doubling home two runs in the first inning and Skowron slapping a two-run single in the third before hitting a homer in the seventh.

In the nightcap, Bobby Knopp's second error, in the seventh inning, paved the way for three unearned runs and the White Sox' seventh consecutive victory. Danny Cater scored when second-baseman Knopp bobbled Skowron's grounder and Ron Hansen capped the uprising with a two-run triple.

Earl Wilson got the job done for the Red Sox in the opener by limiting the Tigers to four hits while Lee Thomas drove in three runs with a single and a double.

Carl Yastrzemski and Tony Conigliaro powered the Red Sox to their second game victory with consecutive third-inning homers that built their lead to 4-0. It was Yastrzemski's seventh and Conigliaro's eighth.

Ken McMullen doubled and scored on Jim King's single to give the Senators a 7-7 tie in the

Cards Rise To Fourth In League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals rose to fourth place in the National League, one game over the .500 mark, after sweeping a four-game weekend series with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Cardinals downed the Pirates 6-3 and 5-1 in a doubleheader Sunday beating them 8-7 Friday and 5-1 Saturday.

In Kansas City, the Athletics got new manager Haywood Sullivan off to a rousing start with a doubleheader sweep over Minnesota Sunday, 7-4 in 10 innings and 4-2. The victories snapped a seven-game losing streak for the A's.

Ray Washburn of the Cards shutout the Pirates on three hits for six innings before Bob Purkey finished up the second game. It was Washburn's third victory—all against Pittsburgh. He has lost once. The Pirates haven't scored against Washburn in 10 innings this year.

Bob Gibson beat the Pirates in the opener, giving him a 7-0 record, best in the majors. He had troubles, but managed to scatter 10 hits and also socked a solo homer in the ninth.

Ken Boyer, resurgent Dick Groat and Bill White all drove in three runs in the twinnill.

Kansas City looked anything but a last place club as they scored twice in the ninth of the opener and then won in the 10th on Ed Charles' three-run homer.

Dick Green hit his second homer of the game in the ninth, Charles followed with a triple and rookie Rene Lachmann singled to tie the score.

Lachemann had two singles and a homer in the nightcap, but an error brought home the tally that broke a 2-2 deadlock.

The Cardinals will try to make it five straight when Curt Simmons (1-4) takes on Philadelphia and Bo Belinsky (0-2) in St. Louis.

ninth inning, then won it in the 11th with a homer off Dick Don.

The Indians came back to grab the second game with Fred Whitfield hitting a pinch-hit grand-slam homer and Joe Azcue connecting for a two-run shot, Luis Tiant got the victory with a six-hitter.

Luis Aparicio's two-run homer in the sixth inning capped a four-homer salvo that powered the Orioles over the Yankees. Aparicio's homer, only his second, put Baltimore ahead 6-5. Curt Blefary, Norm Siebern and pitcher Jim Palmer also homered.

Way Back When ...

THEY FILLED THE paper with war stories on May 17, 1940, and left little room for sports. Somebody managed to get the baseball results of the day in, though. Only one team in each major league completed a game that day—all the others were rained out or driven from the field by mud puddles.

In the National League, Chicago edged Boston 5-4, while in the American, St. Louis went down to Boston 5-7. It was a bad day for everybody — worsened by the news that German troops had entered Brussels. Remember?

SO, WITH LITTLE else to go on, it's back to the musty files for interesting names. The subject of the day — baseball.

In this day and age, with TV cameras zooming in on individual players, a pitcher who wipes his brow with his wrist (much less his hand) may be met by screams of "spitball!" from the batter and his bench. To throw a spitball today is illegal, but Burleigh Arland Grimes used them once. As a matter of fact, Grimes was the last of the legal spitballers.

He actually didn't throw as many as batters thought. A tough, burly right-hander, he bluffed his way more often than not. Grimes, who started his career with Pittsburgh in 1916, ended it managing for two years for the Dodgers. His actual playing days ended with New York in 1934. His best season saw him win 25 and lose 14.

(pf)

He with a run-scoring single in the 10th inning, and the Cubs scored three more times, offsetting Wes Parker's two-run double in the Dodgers' half of the inning. Ron Santo, Ernie Banks and Dick Bertell singled in the other Cub runs in the 10th.

Doubleheader Sweep Stuns A's Manager

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Haywood Sullivan was still getting used to the idea of managing in the major leagues when the lowly Kansas City Athletics presented him with an amazing doubleheader sweep. It was almost too much.

"I'm still numb," said Sullivan, almost shouting to make himself heard above the noise in the usually quiet A's clubhouse.

"I haven't had any sleep in two days," he said. "I got on a plane at Vancouver Saturday night and stopped at Seattle, Portland, Oakland and Los Angeles before I got here this morning."

The A's, losers of 21 of 26 games under Mel McGaha, made their fledgling skipper look like a genius by smacking down the Minnesota Twins 7-4 in 10 innings and 4-2 Sunday.

He brought in rookie catcher Rene Lachemann as a pinch hitter in the first game and the lad responded with a single to tie the game. Why Lachemann?

"Well, they tell me he's been hitting well," Sullivan said. Lachemann caught the second game and went 3-for-4, including a homer.

"He's going to do a lot of catching for us this year," he said. "He was a bat boy for the Dodgers four years, you know ... smart kid and he's picked up a lot."

Sullivan started his managing career at Birmingham in the Southern League last year. He's 34, tall, hard working and deceptively mild in manner. It's known that he believes in landing on a player when he lets down. As for the A's, he is realistic.

"I know we don't stack up with some teams, position for position, but we're not as bad as our record," he said.

"It's mainly a matter of getting them in the right frame of mind, of developing a sense of pride. How do you do this? Winning a few can do wonders — just hear 'em out there. (John) Blanchard and (Roland) Shel-

2 Horses Sidelined By Injuries

BALTIMORE (AP) — Injuries, which have plagued thoroughbred racing's 3-year-old division all year, struck again in the Preakness as Tom Rolfe won the $180,000 race Saturday with a neck decision over Dapper Dan.

Lucky Debonair, a fading seventh in the 1 3/16-mile race after winning the Kentucky Derby, and Native Charger, fourth in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, went on the hospital list for indefinite periods with leg injuries.

And even Tom Rolfe didn't escape unscathed as he survived a claim of foul while throwing back Dapper Dan's bid in the duel between two sons of the unbeaten Italian sire — Ribot.

Tom Rolfe, owned by Raymond Guest, the U.S. ambassador to Ireland, threw his left front shoe and returned to the winner's circle with his front heels run down and some hair brushed off the ankle.

Trainer Frank Whiteley said Sunday there was not much soreness in the heel. He will point Tom Rolfe for the 1 1/2-mile Belmont stakes June 5, in which he will again hook up with the stretch-running Dapper Dan from Ogden Phipps' stable. He will be kept in training at Delaware Park.

Lucky Debonair, never farther back than fourth as Flag Raiser led the field of nine through a swift six furlongs and a 1:37 mile, suffered bucked shins in his two front legs, with the worse soreness in the left one.

Trainer Frank Catrone said Lucky Debonair would be out of action for at least two months. Native Charger, winner of the Flamingo and Florida Derby for 83-year-old Albert Warner, bowed a tendon in his right foreleg. Trainer Ray Metcalf was not available as the horse was sent to Garden State Park in New Jersey.

With Hail to All, third in the Preakness, scheduled to start in the $100,000-added Jersey Derby, the Belmont stakes could well develop into a two-horse race.

Springfield Man Wins Speech Contest

WICHITA (AP) — Lynn MacMillan, Springfield, Mo., was named winner Sunday in a speech contest of Toastmasters District 22, at the organization's annual meeting here.

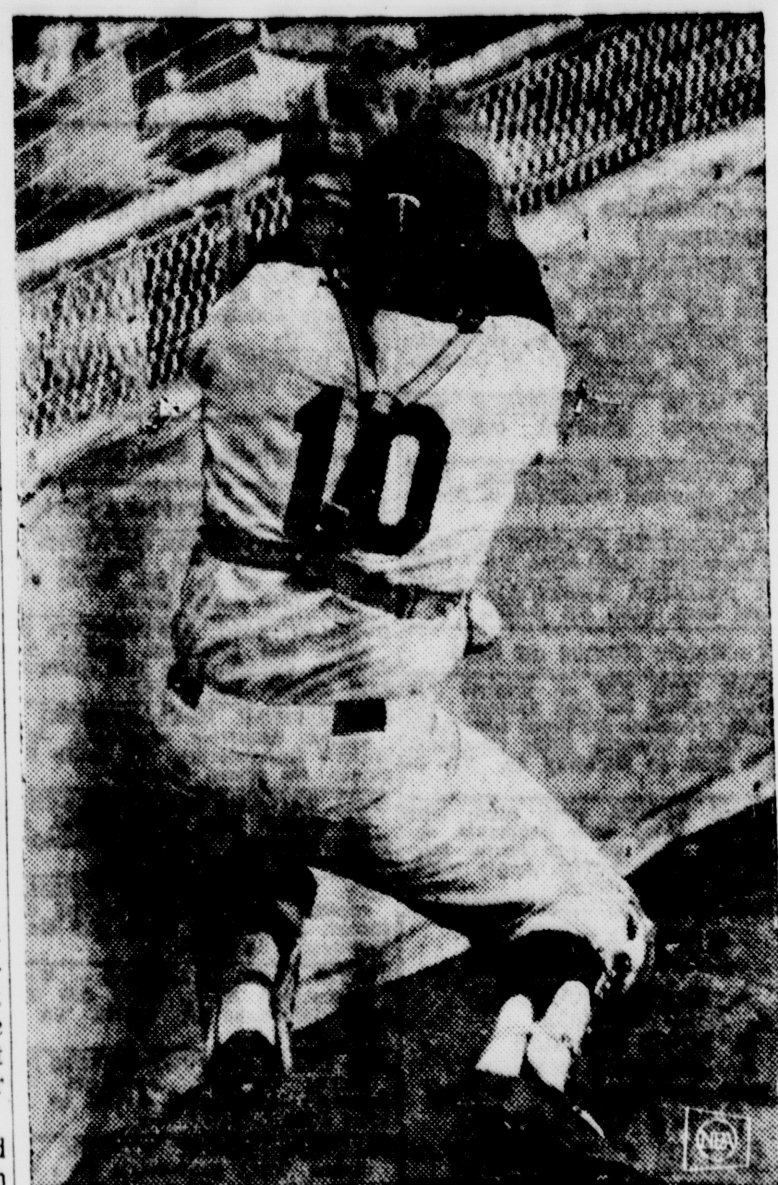

MacMillan will represent the district, comprised of 49 clubs in Kansas and the western half of Missouri at a regional Toastmasters international contest June 4-5 at Albuquerque, N.M.

Second place winner was Fred Cleer, Mission, Kan. Allen Miller, Coffeyville, Kan., placed third.

Harold Wantiez, Wichita, was elected district governor, succeeding Rudy Schmidt of Mission. Al Acker, Topeka, was named senior lieutenant governor.

Newly-elected lieutenant governors are John O'Loughlin, Hays, Kan., Section 1; Harold Martin, Topeka, Section 2; Warren L. Reed, Leavenworth, Kan., Section 3; Eddie Gray, Springfield, Section 4; Richard Phillips, Fort Scott, Kan., Section 5; and Gene Torline, Wichita, Section 6.

New officers will be installed June 11 at Topeka.

CLOSE QUARTERS—Earl Battey of the Minnesota Twins finds himself cramped for space as he tries to grab this foul. He couldn't hold it.

No Victory Formula

Marines Develop Grudging Respect for Cong Guerillas

Editors Note — U.S. Marine ground forces have been tugging with the Viet Cong every day for the past month. How are they settling down to the first ground action by U.S. troops since the Korean War? Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett spent three weeks with the Marines. Here is his report.

By PETER ARNETT

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines have found no magic formula to beat the Communist Viet Cong.

Pickings have been lean since they moved out on combat patrols from the Da Nang and Hue base camps in mid-April. And they have discovered many frustrations: the searing heat, the tangled jungle and a disappearing enemy.

The Marines have found it will take hard slogging and perseverance to get a military victory.

The Marines appear to be developing a grudging respect for the black pajama-clad guerrillas who have been stubbornly staying inside the perimeter the Marines have been given to defend around the Da Nang air base.

These guerrillas, most of them equipped with old-fashioned French weapons, have inflicted about 70 Marine casualties. Almost every Marine patrol that moves out of base camp makes contact and fire-fights ensue.

The Marines have brought back 18 Viet Cong bodies from patrols, not as trophies but for intelligence purposes, they say. They feel that for every body they get, two others have been spirited away.

"Everyone knows our casualties but no one knows the enemies. We are giving as good as we get," said the Marine commandant, Gen. Wallace M. Greene, in a news conference at Da Nang recently.

This was after the Viet Cong had surprised two Marine outposts, killing and wounding several.

The Marine defense perimeter around Da Nang extends about 15-miles deep.

Familiarity with the terrain is breeding a certain amount of contempt.

"Those guys were picked off walkin' single file along that dike. Why didn't they deploy properly," one Marine complained about a platoon that was ambushed by three Viet Cong snipers.

Some Marine companies have a tendency to bunch up while returning from long, wearying patrols, making ideal targets for Viet Cong snipers.

The Marines have found that it is not easy to fight by the book in Viet Nam.

One Marine officer said: "We know we are targets when we keep moving over the same trails. But where else can we go? Often, there is only one way to go."

"Our biggest problem is the heat," a Marine doctor said. "We just can't move too quickly or too far in this heat. We have to slow down."

One Marine company of 400 men had 10 per cent heat casualties one day. To prevent this happening again, the Marines have longer and more frequent rest periods.

The Marines have made a special study of their relations with the civilian population. Marine commanders are almost overly careful in their attempt to protect the civilian population from being hurt.

Marine officers feel that with gradual adaptation to the climate and terrain of Viet Nam, the performance of their men will improve. But they are not looking for any quick, spectacular victories.

Some of the Marines feel they are not really equipped psychologically to fight in Viet Nam.

"The Marines are essentially an assault force, sent ashore to take a beach or secure an airstrip, then to move on. Here, we are acting like the Army," one said.

Said a senior Marine: "We haven't been in a war for 10 years. Our boys are green. This is just what we need."

Horseback Riding Accident Is Fatal

LEBANON, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. James A. Scurlock, 38, mother of six children, was killed in a horseback riding accident Sunday about 16 miles west of Lebanon.

Mrs. Scurlock and her husband were among 13 persons in a riding party. About five miles north of their home at the Long Lane community, Mrs. Scurlock's horse reared and fell backward on her.

The other riders described the horse as gentle, and said they didn't know what caused it to rear.

Quarrel Ends With Man Losing His Life

CROCKER, Mo. (AP)—Ewald P. Burns, 21, was shot to death Saturday evening during a quarrel with his estranged wife and another woman.

The highway patrol quoted Mrs. Gloria C. Miller, 24, as saying she shot Burns as he was trying to kick down the door of her home four miles north of Crocker. She said he had threatened to kill her.

Mrs. Miller was hospitalized at Waynesville for treatment of shock. No charge has been filed against her.

Burns and his wife, Wanda, 21, had been separated two weeks and she had been staying with Mrs. Miller. Both women worked at a shoe factory in Dixon.

Short-Haul Microwave hurdles rivers, lakes and rugged terrain to bring low-cost, dependable Long Distance telephone circuits to cities and towns off the main routes.

Like their big brothers of the nationwide Long Distance networks, these Short-Haul microwave systems can be "sliced" electronically to accommodate television shows, radio programs, reams of business data and thousands of telephone calls—with wirephotos and fast-breaking news stories thrown in for good measure.

This year we're building more and more of them to bring the benefits of microwave to more people and more places. Via a network of towers 40 to 360 feet high, spaced 20 to 30 miles apart (each with its own transmitter and receiver) messages are relayed from point to point until they reach their destinations, riding invisible voicepaths in the sky at the speed of 186,000 miles a second.

It's part of our biggest construction program ever. An intensive effort to give you even faster, easier communications and make your telephone service more useful, convenient, dependable and valuable seven days a week in foul weather or fair. Another 1965 communications bonus from Southwestern Bell.

Columnist Writes About Rosenthal

ROSENTHAL, 1003 West Seventh, is shown with the plaque he received April 25, at a meeting held in Topeka, Kan. It reads: "Recognition award to Abe Rosenthal—In appreciation of the dedicated service and outstanding leadership he has rendered his congregation Temple Beth El, Sedalia, Mo., as well as the cause of Reform Judaism for many years." It was signed "Union of American Hebrew Congregations, Maurice M. Eisenrath, president," and bears the seal.

Integration Continues

State Doing More To Aid It's Lower-Income Students

By JOHN HILDEBRAND
Associated Press Writer

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A decade has passed since Missouri's state colleges and universities began lowering their bars to integration.

Yet, most of the state's Negro college students still go one campus — Lincoln University at the state capital.

About 1,000 Negroes—with an increasing number of whites — attend classes here. Negroes form less than 2 per cent of the enrollment on other state campuses, according to one Missouri educator.

This situation still prevails over much of the United States, says Earl J. McGrath, former U. S. Commissioner of Education. In a recent study, he predicts that predominantly Negro colleges will go on educating a large percentage of Negro youths.

Many of these schools need to be strengthened, McGrath feels. Expanded scholarship and remedial training are needed, he says, for the students who come from low-income families.

This applies to Missouri. In 1960, on the average, a Negro male earned $1,280 less than a white male.

"We've dealt perhaps with a larger number of low-income students than most," says Dr. Earl Dawson, Lincoln University president. Often, he says, these youths are culturally short-changed.

"Some of them come from homes too poor to provide enough food," Dawson says, and "you can't do much when you're hungry."

"It shows up in the verbal tests. Normally, their scores are much lower."

What is Missouri doing to help its disadvantaged students catch up?

More than it used to, educators say, but still not enough.

"Since 1958 the General Assembly has been more mindful of our needs," says Dr. Dawson. "But before it was like pulling eye teeth."

Today the university's budget provides $767 per student, a greater per capita expense than that of the state colleges. In enrollment, Lincoln ranks in the upper fourth of predominantly Negro schools.

But these figures don't tell the full story.

Lincoln must spend more per student because its enrollment of 1,650 is still far below that of most Missouri state colleges.

Dawson attributes its relatively slow growth to a lack of facilities. A $1.7 million appropriation now is pending in the Legislature for a new building at Lincoln. It will be the first general classroom structure built there since 1930.

But assuming the university's building needs will eventually be met, what else can be done?

McGrath stresses financial aid for students. Last year Lincoln reported only $2,000 available for scholarships.

"President Dawson has talked many times about poor children who are college material, but can't afford it," says Dr. Ben Morton, executive secretary of the Commission on Higher Education.

A measure providing $1.2 million a year in scholarships for all state colleges and universities is being considered by the Legislature, though it probably cannot be fully financed this year.

Perhaps most important are remedial programs to help the disadvantaged student catch up. Remedial instructors at Lincoln report remarkable gains by some students.

President Dawson would like to start remedial programs in reading and mathematics for high school graduates who lack the background for college. He

An article about Abe Rosenthal, 1003 West Seventh, written by Rosemary Madison, columnist, appeared in the May 6 issue of the Benson Sun, Omaha, Neb., after Mr. and Mrs. Rosenthal visited their daughter, Willis, and her husband, Alvin Ross. She referred to two awards received the past year by Rosenthal, the first from the Hebrew Union College signed by Nelson Glueck, and the second, on April 25, from the Union of American Hebrew congregations, signed by Maurice Eisenrath, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. The latter was presented at a meeting held at Topeka, Kan.

Rosemary Madison writes a weekly column for the Benson Sun and she said of the Rosenthals:

"It was through this column that I met two wonderful people from Sedalia, Mo., and spent three evenings in Omaha with people it's a sheer joy to know."

Telling of a visit in the Ross home for an evening of chamber music, she spoke of the other musicians, including Willis, whom she described as a tremendous flutist and also plays piano very well, and then continued telling about Abe Rosenthal.

"I've saved her fiddle playing father for the last," Columnist Madison continued. "Though the Rosenthals came to visit daughter, son-in-law and two small granddaughters, Abe Rosenthal wouldn't dream of arriving without his Zanol violin and a suit case full of chamber music."

as a saxophonist and clarinetist started his musical career there as a saxophonist and clarinetist with a jazz band. He took up the fiddle when he started conducting theatre orchestras. For the past 30 years, he has conducted the orchestra in Sedalia, plays with faculty groups at Warrensburg State College and Missouri Valley College in Marshall.

"For 28 years, he was district manager for Cities Service Oil Co., but that, according to his wife, 'was his living. Music was his love.' He recently retired from money making, now devotes full time to music making."

"His other great love is Rabbinical work. For 25 years, he has been the lay Rabbi for Temple Beth-El in Sedalia."

Finds Intruder Hiding In Storeroom

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Police captured a man in a drug store early Sunday and went away, but another intruder was flushed out of the store about seven hours later by a woman employee.

Thomas Robert Casey, 35, of Kansas City, Kan., surrendered after police surrounded the store and fired three shots into the place in suburban Overland Park, Kan.

Officers searched the building without finding Casey's companion, James W. Blake, 30, of Omaha. Blake had climbed onto a storeroom shelf and placed boxes around him.

In the afternoon Mrs. Alice Becker entered the storeroom and screamed when she saw Blake crouching by the door. He bolted through a crowd of customers, kicked the glass out of a door and started running, but was captured by the store manager and a motorist.

He hopes to get a foundation grant for the program.

"Perhaps we'd save a great deal of talent," he says.

Billy Graham Takes Rest In Switzerland

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Billy Graham flew to Switzerland today for a vacation with his daughter and Swiss son-in-law after a week's Danish crusade in which he was heard by 65,700 persons. A total of 675 made decisions for Christ.

"We have been so encouraged by this crusade here that we will consider accepting invitations from Norway, Sweden and Finland," said the 46-year-old American evangelist.

Graham ended his crusade Sunday night with a request that the Danes pray "that a great spiritual awakening will take place in Alabama, so that

Man Disappears In Missouri River

KANSAS CITY (AP)—James Payne, 31, of Wyandotte County, disappeared in the Missouri River Sunday after falling out of a boat near the Fairfax bridge.

Robert Coleman, 36, owner of the boat, and brother-in-law of Payne, said he jumped in and got hold of the struggling man. The current carried the boat away, however, and Payne slipped out of his grasp, Coleman said.

"I dived until I was waterlogged," Coleman said. "I could not find him again." Coleman swam ashore.
